

WHOO NEWS

JUNE 2024

Summer is here

It's official, boating season is here and people are moving. Buying and selling boats, coming to the Delta for the warm weather, and getting boats ready to anchor out with family and friends. The picnic areas are getting full, so be sure to make your reservations sooner, rather than later, so you have a place to gather besides your boat – keep that for going out and traveling the waters, then come back and spread out for a BBQ and drinks.

We are excited to have our 15th Annual Nautical Swap Meet on June 15th. I think this year will surely be the best by far – the response has been incredible. Hope you can make it – what a great Father's Day weekend doing what you love. There is also the Isleton Crawdad Festival. It's a fun two-day event, so you can spend the 15th with the swap meet, then the day on the boat, then Sunday, head over to the festival in Isleton.

If you are looking for places to go around the Delta in your boat, check in at the office. We have some great handouts with anchorages to visit. Exploring this incredible resource makes for a vacation not depleting your pocketbook but fills your soul. The fresh water is perfect!

If you are on the water June 8th, be on the lookout for the Delta Ditch boats traveling the San Joaquin River – an incredible sight to see.

Stay safe and enjoy,

Devery and Captain Jack Sparrow

How Green is your Garden

James was first gardener to get in, and he's got quite the haul of goods already. We have had a few squash and zucchini – it's going to be a great veggie year!

I don't believe you have to be better than everybody else. I believe you have to be better than you ever thought you could be.
